

Four wonderful days in the Pilion mountains

Intending to get an impression of the Pilion mountains during our holidays this year, we followed the advice of Jacoline Vinke (based on her website "Jacoline's small hotels in Greece") and made reservations for four days in the guesthouse "Amanita". It was a very good decision.

Beautifully located, overlooking the Aegean Sea up to the islands of Skiathos, Skopelos and Alonissos, the "Amanita" is a perfect place for everybody who is looking for quietness and relaxation. The guesthouse is an historic building which has been restored by its owner Filaretos with love and passion. Our suite (named "Aigaio") was spacious and comfortable, with stylish furniture, open fireplace and a nice view to the Aegean Sea.

Breakfast was a daily highlight, with fresh baked bread (by Filaretos himself) and with a variety of delicious homemade specialties, like marmelades, omelettes, pancakes, "tiropita", cheese, olives etc.

If we should decide to return to Pilion for another holidays, we will be back in "Amanita" guesthouse - defintely !
